SENIOR BASKETBALLERS WON OUT AND ARE NOW LEAGUE CHAMPIONS; GAME WAS FAST AND CLOSE ONE

M.A.A.A. Were Unable to Overcome Lead Secured in First Period, and Red and White Took Game and Championship—Score Was 25-22—Little or No Rough Work—Kern and Upham Were Particularly Good—Team Played Good Combination—Intermediates Lost by Narrow Margin.

At least one championship in senior sport is to come to McGill this year. Last night the Senior Basketball team made sure of this when they won out in a closely contested game with the representatives of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association at the gymnasium of the latter team. The score, 25-22, is indicative of the evenness of the match.

At the end of the first period the college men were leading by a score of 18 to 8, and it seemed to most of the spectators that they had a decided edge upon their opponents. But M. A. A. came back with a will in the second period and made things look black for a time, when only about three points separated the contestants. After a hard battle, however, the Red and White came through victors by a margin of three.

In the first game, that between the McGill and M.A.A.A. intermediate teams, the college lost in the second period, after holding a good lead throughout the first. In the course of the intermission between the games Mr. Hersey presented the cup bearing his name to the president of the league, and this cup is now the property of the McGill team.

The play in the senior game opened with McGill pressing hard, and it was not long before Kern opened the scoring with a free shot. M.A.A.A. worked hard, but lacked the combination of their adversaries. Knowles scored a basket, amid the cheers of the Red and Blue supporters. McGill rushed matters and Hay started a scoring bee, putting in four in rapid succession, and securing a lead of seven points for the college. The checking now grew hard and close, with Kern and Upham putting up some great work. Kern got a free throw and increased McGill's lead by one more point. M.A.A.A. rallied and Knowles scored a basket, which was quickly followed by one by Saunders.

The spectators were then given the spectacle of a neat bit of combination on the part of Kern and Upham, as a result of which the latter tallied. The M.A.A.A. rooters encouraged their team to further efforts, but the Red and White defence was unbeatable. Kern put in another free shot, and at this point the game seemed all McGill's. Saunders scored a basket for M.A.A.A. and immediately afterward Leonard shot almost from mid-floor, putting the ball squarely into the basket. Brophy had a chance to score on a free shot, but missed. Upham scored again, after some pretty work around the M.A.A.A. stronghold, and Kern added one just as time was called. When the players had left the floor, it was discovered that a mistake had been made in the time, and there were two minutes of play remaining. The teams were recalled, and the Red and White used their time to such good effect that Montgomery worked a fast combination with Young for a basket by the latter. The whistle blew with McGill in the lead, the score being 18-8.

The second period started with McGill still on the offensive, and Kern scored a free shot in a few minutes. Saunders tallied for M.A.A.A., and Brophy followed this up with a free shot. M.A.A.A. were rushing matters and looked decidedly dangerous, but on account of the fine defensive work of "Monty" and Kern, were unable to further reduce their opponents' lead, until Fitzpatrick eluded the McGill men and scored. Upham came right back with a basket, and the college supporters gave a McGill yell to show their approval. Brophy scored a free shot. The play now grew rather strenuous and Upham received a slight injury, the game being stopped for a few moments. Knowles shot a basket from the side on a pass from Leonard, and the applause from the home "rooters" was deafening. Things brightened for McGill when Kern added one on a free shot, but M.A.A.A. were determined and pressed hard, bombarding the basket until Leonard repeated his feat of the first period, and dropped another long shot in. Brophy secured a free shot and tallied again, and the McGill supporters pleaded with the team for a basket.

DR. GEO. VILLAIN LECTURED TO DENTS.

Great Work Done by Dentists in French Army

Yesterday afternoon the Dental students of McGill were favoured by a visit and lecture from Dr. George Villain, who, for the last four years, has been attached to the Dental Corps of the French Army. During the course of what was one of the finest professional lectures delivered at McGill for a long time, this gallant Frenchman, who is more than a dentist—more than a manipulator or facial prosthetic—who is at once a surgeon, an artist, and a scientist, told what dental art has done for French soldiers maimed by war. By means of some carefully prepared slides the lecturer showed the pitiable condition of men fresh from the battle-field, and the marvellous cures which had been achieved. The wounded came to the hospital with mutilated faces, presenting terrible wounds with loss of tissue-bone structure and almost absolute lack of function. After the application of thoughtful and scientific care, these men were discharged from hospital, and returned to the war zone once again in possession of a naturally contoured face, speech, function and the ability to masticate—"and this great thing was achieved by the dental surgeons of France."

Dr. Villain gave some interesting side-lights on the attitude of the French Government towards dentists previous to the war, and during its early months. Then the Government, far from acknowledging the value of the experience and skill of these trained men, declared that they had no place in the arts of war, and promptly conscripted for combatant service all who were of military age. These dentists went away to war in 1914 as common soldiers, but they "added to their big baggage" some useful professional instruments. When opportunity came these young soldier-dentists plied their art in ministering to the dental needs of their comrades. Presently the commanding officers observed their worth and recommended that they be commissioned to look after the dental requirements of the Army, and this was done. The work prospered and expanded till twenty special dental clinics were established throughout France, through whose services alone over 250,000 French soldiers were reclaimed for the colors.

This work of facial restoration began by treating injuries to the teeth, then the lips; the cheeks followed, till at length this hospital staff was giving new noses for old; a new larynx where there was none at all, and finally moulding rubber eyes and gelatinous ears.

Growing out of their experiences with war wounds and their treatment the lecturer observed that a new division of jaw fractures had sprung up. Formerly these fractures were referred to as of the body or of the

RETURNED MEN HELD SMOKER IN THE UNION

B., W. and F. Club Gave Exhibitions of Wrestling and Boxing

DR. PORTER GAVE ADDRESS

Number of Returned Men Related Their Experiences of the War

The Science returned men held a smoker yesterday evening in the Union Lounge Room. In the neighbourhood of one hundred men were present. A feeling of good fellowship pervaded the room, and it was not long before those present were seated in the comfortable lounge chairs exchanging tales of their experiences "over there."

"Dickie" Dawes, the master of ceremonies, had the smoker well in hand, and after a few introductory remarks, announced the first item, an exhibition of wrestling and boxing by members of the B., W. and F. Club.

Dawes and Macintosh wrestled for two rounds and gave a good exhibition. Both were fairly equal, and it was only after five minutes' hard work that Macintosh got the first fall, with thirty seconds to go. This was the only fall of the two rounds.

Copeland and Ross then boxed for two rounds, and their work showed finish and snap. After them Kelnor and Mirsky boxed for three rounds, and, being of equal weight, this bout proved most interesting.

After the boxing, Mader and Duvernet wrestled for two rounds. By good fortune, Mader got a fall in thirty seconds, but this put Duvernet on his mettle, and for five and a half minutes both worked hard and fast, but though both showed skill neither was able to get a fall. The work of the men reflects credit on Mr. Smith, the trainer.

Dean Porter, of the Faculty of Science, gave a short address on aeronautics. He emphasized the progress that had been made in this department of science, and the important role aeronautics had played in the Great War. In conclusion, Dean Porter stated that he envied those present in that they had survived the gigantic conflict and had done their bit "over there."

Major Stewart Forbes was then asked to say a few words. Major Forbes was connected with a machine gun section. He stated that he would not go into details of the subject, as the men present had seen what part machine guns had played in the war. Major Forbes said that when he arrived in France he found living conditions in the trenches were not nearly so bad as he had expected before he went over.

A short talk on submarines was then given by Surgeon Sub-Lieutenant Douglas Leroyd. Sub-Lieut. Leroyd affirmed that if he were to talk about his personal experiences he would not be saying anything about the navy. Leroyd described how he had gone to Zeebrugge and Ostend six times in a submarine, and related many interesting experiences connected therewith. Concluding, he stated that there were men present who had been longer in the navy than he, and so would let them speak.

The efficient Union staff here entered laden with trays filled with cake and cups of steaming coffee. A speedy attack was made on these, and, judging from the remarkably sudden disappearance of the refreshments, the onslaught was a decided success. With L. A. Wilkie, of Medicine '23, at the piano, all united in singing some rousing songs. "Keep Your Head Down, Fritz! Boy" and "A Broken Doll" were chanted with a vim. This concluded the smoker, which was an unqualified success. All those concerned in the programme are to be congratulated for the admirable entertainment which was given.

CONCERNING ATHLETICS.

With the winning of last night's game, the Senior Basketball team secured the championship of the Montreal Basketball League. During the past season both the intermediates and the seniors have worked hard and consistently, and, no doubt, much of their success was due to the steady grind during practice hours.

During the season, which is now closing, the college men have done well, not only in basketball, but in hockey and the other sports in which McGill is interested, and a review of the various activities shows that already McGill is taking her old place in college athletics.

The Hockey Club started out badly, but soon got into shape, and were well up in the league standing, although unable to make up for their first losses. However, in the closing games the team showed that they were the equals of any playing in the league.

With the outbreak of the "flu" in the fall, all hopes of any Intercollegiate Rugby were abandoned, but with the hope and practical certainty that "Shag" will be on hand next fall, the prospects for the McGill Rugby Club are bright, indeed.

The B. W. and F. Club has made a fresh start, and Trainer Smith promises to bring out a number of men next year who will do credit to McGill in the intercollegiate competitions.

Special praise is due to the untiring work of the basketball teams. The intermediates have shown that they were able to defeat the best teams in the league, and the defeats they sustained were in most cases by very small margins. What luck can be assigned in basketball somehow was against them.

The Swimming Club has come forward this season, and their victory at the M.A.A.A. showed that McGill is by no means backward where swimming is concerned.

A general survey of athletics reveals the fact that McGill has promising material as far as athletics are concerned, and this is particularly noteworthy, as on Saturday the representatives of the various Canadian colleges will meet at Kingston to discuss intercollegiate athletics.

SENIOR BASKETBALLERS WON OUT AND ARE NOW LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

ket. At this juncture Fitzpatrick was hurt by accidentally colliding with Montgomery, but was able to continue. Kern scored a free shot, but Saunders followed this with a basket for M. A. A. A., and it looked for a moment as though the Red and Blue would overcome the lead. Hay took a pass from Upham and scored McGill's last counter, making the score 25-21. Just before the whistle blew, Brophy notched a final free shot, and the game ended with McGill winners by a score of 25-22.

The greatest credit is due the members of the champion team, whose hard work in games and practices has not, perhaps, been sufficiently appreciated in the past by the majority of the undergraduates. "Monty" Montgomery, by his constant enthusiasm, is responsible in no small degree for the bringing of the cup to McGill; Kern, on the defence with him, is a young player of exceptional ability, and his play on the defence and effectiveness in scoring free shots, have been valuable assets to the college team. Upham, Hay and Young make a great trio on the offensive, and work well together, showing plenty of unselfishness in passing to one another, and accuracy in shooting. Hyndman, when called upon, put up a fast game, although partially incapacitated by wounds received at the front. Mention should also be made of the careful coaching provided by "Art" Walsh, who, in his capacity of manager, has given many useful hints to the members of the team, particularly the younger men.

The intermediate game, though disappointing to the McGill supporters, was fast and interesting from the start. McGill led in the first period and kept well ahead until Laishley was taken off, to rest, up for the senior game, when M.A.A.A. made a great effort and were successful in overcoming the lead and winning out by five points, the final score being 24-19.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presence of a goodly number of students and their friends to cheer on the teams, and all who attended were amply rewarded by the sight of some excellent basketball.

REPRESENTATIVES OF C.A.A.U. TO MEET AT KINGSTON.

The representatives of the Intercollegiate Athletic Associations will hold a meeting in Queen's University gymnasium, Kingston, at 3.00 p.m., Saturday, March 29th. The following representatives will be sent from McGill: Rugby, Association, Harrier, Hockey, Tennis, Basketball, Swimming, Boxing, etc., and Track.

R. V. C. SECTION

PUBLIC SPEAKING WON BY SENIORS

R. Rogers and E. Monk Carry Off Individual Cups

The class of 1919 may well be regarded as the best year for public speaking in the college, as, for the last three years, their team has won the Public Speaking Cup. There was a good representation from all the years at the Delta Sigma meeting, and I am sure one and all concurred in the decision of the judges. Dr. Walter, in giving that decision, kept everyone in a delightful state of suspense; delightful, because his remarks were of such a witty and humorous character, besides containing much helpful criticism. The Fourth Year team deserved to win for more reasons than one, as two members won the first and second prizes. These were, Miss Rogers, first prize, and Miss Monk, second.

The list of speakers and their subjects were printed in the "Daily" yesterday, so that everyone could see what a varied list it was. There were several interesting and suggestive points brought out by the various speeches, but I shall only attempt to reproduce, in some part, the speeches of the two best speakers, first mentioning, however, that of Miss Macdonald, whose speech on "Socialism" was highly commended by the judges. Miss Macdonald, the third speaker of the Fourth Year, showed in the brief time allowed her the difference between Socialism and the many terms which are commonly confused with it, such as Communism, Syndicalism, Anarchism. She then defined the aim of Socialism, which is that the instruments of production should be owned and maintained by the State for the people. After tracing the course of the Russian Republic, Miss Macdonald pointed out into what a deplorable state Socialism in Russia had fallen.

In commenting upon the speech by Miss Rogers, I cannot do better than repeat the remark of Dr. Walter, that it was one of the prettiest things he had ever listened to in the R.V.C., and he had both seen and heard some pretty things. "Ships," as depicted by Miss Rogers, were a fascinating subject. Perhaps, rather, the title should be "The Game of Ships," for it was in the form of describing a game that Miss Rogers gave her speech.

There was a merry group of children on the bank of a river, and as they played they watched the ships passing. There were all kinds of ships, and as they watched, suddenly one little girl cried out, "Oh, I'd like to be that great big ship!" and so the game began. The big ship was a pleasure boat, her three decks crowded with people, all bent on having a good time. One little boy scorned such trifles and preferred a ferry that piled back and forth, carrying people to and from their business. He felt that he was accomplishing something worth while. The oldest boy of the party did not play quite fair, but the rest could not say him nay. He would not take any of the ships passing on the river, but wanted to be a submarine, and glide along underneath the waves, occasionally coming up to torpedo a boat or two, but he would not touch pirates, as they appealed to him mightily. A timid little miss would have liked to have been a submarine too, but, no encouragement being offered, she decided to be the little blue motor-boat that carried the oil to fill the buoys in the river. There were many other ships chosen, from the swift racing skiffs, the speedy motor-launches, the light canoe and steady row-boat, to the stolid coal-barge. For herself, Miss Rogers was divided between three ships. One was a gay white yacht, with glittering brass and shining paint, and on the stern in golden letters was her name, "Butterfly." She longed to be the "Butterfly," for the people on board seemed so happy and care-free, and the gay little ship, as its namesake that flits from flower to flower, only stopped whenever it liked, and had no duties to perform. The second ship, a dredge, that stayed in one place all day, and cleared the channel, had no attractions, but after a last, longing glance at the "Butterfly," Miss Rogers turned to the last of the trio, a neat, gray, serviceable little ship that plied back and forth on the river, carrying mail. That day there were a group of children on board, returning from a happy pleasure trip, and as she looked at the laughing children with their red, white and blue balloons, and as she thought of the parcels and letters which she could carry, which would bring so much joy to their recipients, Miss Rogers decided to be the neat gray "Constance." There was only one boy who had not chosen, for he had always been waiting for something more grand and splendid to come, but now all the ships had passed by, so in a gruff little voice he said that he would be the dredge. It is many years since the game was played, and the children have all grown up and are separated, but the "Constance" still plies her trade, and the dredge is still dredging out mud from the channel.

E PLURIBUS UNUM.

"The old order changeth yielding place to new." With this issue the students of the Royal Victoria College are asked to bid an affectionate farewell to the R.V.C. section. This system of publishing R.V.C. news has been in operation for some weeks, and it has now been considered advisable to discontinue it. One of the objections advanced against the system was that it appeared to be a beginning of college division, and from the point of view of the staff the arrangement of the matter is sometimes difficult. As the only hope of finding a workable solution of the problem lies in further experimentation—the R.V.C. section has been doomed to a natural end, and in the future R.V.C. reports will be included with the general news of the Daily. The former heading of R. V. C. Notes will, however, not be resumed, and all R.V.C. notices will be included with the McGill notices. If this solution of the problem proves to be unsatisfactory, editorial ingenuity will contrive another.

"To-morrow to fresh woods, and pastures new."

NOTICES.

R.V.C. UNDERGRADUATES.
There will be a meeting of the R.V.C. Undergraduates on Thursday, March 27th, at one o'clock, in the Common Room. Mrs. Reford, the convener of the Women's National War Savings Committee, has kindly consented to give a short address on the subject of "Thrifty and War Saving Stamps as a National Financial Measure." Be patriotic, undergraduates, and give proof of your patriotism by being present!

By E. F. SURVEYER, K.C.

The functions of the Minister of Lands and Forests are the following:
1. He has, throughout the province, the oversight, control and management of everything connected with the administration and sale of the public lands belonging to the province, and of the timber and forests thereon.

2. He has the management of estates or estates devolving to the Crown for want of natural or testamentary heirs.

3. He administers the property of the Jesuits Estates, of the Crown Domain, and of the Seigneurie of Lauzon.

4. The Laurentides National Park and Trembling Mountain Park, the Gaspesian Forest, Fish and Game Preserves, and forest reserves are also under his control and management.

5. He performs all the duties and executes all the powers of the Surveyor-General of the late Province of Canada, in respect of matters connected with this Province.

The term "Public Lands" applies to lands heretofore designated and known as Crown lands and clergy lands, which designation for the purposes of administration continues.

Section 109 of the B.N.A. Act declares that "all lands... and all sums due on such, belonging to any of the provinces of the Union, shall belong to the province in which the same are situated or arise, subject to any trusts existing in respect thereof and to any interest other than that of the province in the same."

That section has given rise to a great deal of litigation, principally when it came in conflict with the other section of the Act, giving Parliament legislative power over Indians and lands reserved for the Indians.

The Courts have almost uniformly held that when lands not forming part of an Indian reserve are surrendered by an Indian tribe, for consideration, to the Dominion Government, they automatically become public lands of the province in which they are situated without the latter being even obliged to refund to the Dominion the price of the surrender.

Free grants of public lands may be made. All timber limits within the unoccupied territory of the province must be sold by auction.

The Laurentides National Park is a vast tract of forest carved out of the Counties of Quebec, Montmorency and Charlevoix, in 1894, and set apart as a forest reservation, fish and game preserve, public park and pleasure ground.

Trembling Mountain Park, about 84 miles north of Montreal, in the County of Ottawa (now Hull), is a forest reserve of about three hundred acres at the foot of Trembling Mountain, conceded in the same year, 1894, in view of creating and establishing a sanatorium for specially treating pulmonary diseases.

The "Gaspesian Forest, Fish and Game Preserve" is a territory lying within the counties of Gaspé and Matane, reserved like Laurentides National Park, as a forest reservation, fish and game preserve, public park and pleasure ground.

VI. The Minister of Agriculture.

1. He has, throughout the province, the control and management of everything connected with agriculture.
2. He has the control of and supervision over agricultural schools or colleges and model farms receiving Government grants, permanent exhibition committees, agricultural and horticultural societies, farmers' clubs and institutions for teaching agriculture and beet sugar manufacturing receiving Government grants.

3. The Dairy Association of the Province of Quebec, farmers and dairymen's associations, and societies for the manufacture of butter and cheese must make an annual return of their operations to him.

He may institute inquiries, collect useful facts and statistics relating to agriculture, and adopt measures for circulating the same to promote the progress of the province and attract foreign immigration.

He is ex-officio, a member of the Council of Agriculture, an association consisting of twenty-four members, twenty-one of whom are appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and jointly with the Federal Government, all measures calculated to ensure the worthy representation of this province at any foreign exhibition and at any general exhibition for the Dominion of Canada.

The Minister of Agriculture may organize a permanent committee on agricultural and industrial provincial exhibitions which may establish the conditions and make such regulations as it may deem necessary, for the complete management of such exhibitions, which must be held at least once every three years.

The Illustrated "Journal of Agriculture" is also published by the authority of the Minister.

He also supervises the following bodies:
1. Agricultural societies.
2. Farmers' clubs.
3. Farmers' clubs, co-operative societies.
4. Stock breeding syndicates.
5. Horticultural societies.
6. Pomological and fruit-growing societies.
7. The Dairy Association of the Province of Quebec.
8. Co-operative agricultural associations.
9. Farmers' and dairymen's associations.

He also supervises the inspection of butter and cheese factories, and the prevention and treatment of contagious diseases in bees.

VII. The Minister of Colonization.
He has the administration and direction of the Department of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries. His functions, powers and duties consist in the control and management throughout the province of:—

1. Everything connected with colonization, immigration and emigration.
2. Colonization societies receiving government grants.
3. Colonization works and roads.
4. The preparation of official plans and book of reference.
5. The administration and sale of mining lands.

6. Fisheries within the jurisdiction of the province.
7. The carrying out of game laws. Colonization societies may be formed in any locality approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

Their objects are:—
1. To aid in promoting the establishment of settlers in Crown Lands, to attract immigrants from other countries, and to restore to this province of such of its inhabitants as have emigrated.

2. To open, with the leave of the Government, and to aid the Government and municipalities in opening roads through wild lands of the Crown or leading thereto.

3. To direct settlers or immigrants towards the localities which the Minister shall have assigned to and reserved for them.

4. To provide settlers with seed grain, provisions and implements suitable for the clearing and cultivation of land.

5. To aid the Departments of Agriculture, of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, and of Lands and Forests, to diffuse knowledge and information of a nature to extend colonization.
6. To promote colonization and assist settlers by all means and measures which they shall think fit to adopt in conformity with regulations to be approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

Since July 24, 1880, grants of land (not being at the same time mining concessions) do not extend to the mining rights, which are impliedly reserved by the Crown. The Quebec Mining Law provides for the acquisition from the Crown—that is, the Quebec Government—of mining lands or rights, mining licenses and miners' certificates.

Fisheries—Line fishing and rod and line fishing are alone permitted in navigable waters, and rod and line fishing only is permitted in the non-navigable waters of the province.

For any other mode of fishing a license is required.

The Minister may, wherever the exclusive right to fish does not exist, grant leases authorizing fishing in the non-navigable rivers and lakes in the province, or issue licenses authorizing fishing in the waters of the province, for not more than nine years.

Leases and licenses for a longer time, but not exceeding 15 years, shall be granted or issued only under the authority of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

A fishing license confers on the holder the exclusive right of fishing of any manner authorized by law, within the limits therein described, but does not prevent third parties from taking bait there for cod-fishing, or from angling for other purposes than for trade.

The Minister may grant licenses for any term of years, not exceeding 15, to any person who wishes to plant or form oyster beds in provincial waters; and the holder of any such license shall have the exclusive right to the oysters produced or found in such oyster beds within the limits of his license.

Game Laws.
For the purpose of these laws, the province is divided into two zones. Hunting is forbidden during certain periods. Penalties are imposed for violations of the law. Licenses are provided and inspectors and gamekeepers are appointed.

VIII. The Minister of Public Works.
The functions, powers and duties of the Minister of Public Works and Labour are the following:
1. He has the management, custody and control of all public works, immovable and public buildings belonging to the province, and all buildings destined for the residence of the Lieutenant-Governor or for offices for the public departments.

2. He exercises control over the property of all railways built or subsidized by the Government in virtue of provincial laws, and over the works connected therewith or dependencies thereof.

3. He has the management and control of the construction, maintenance and repair of the public buildings, bridges, roads, drainage or other public works in process of construction or maintained wholly or in part at the expense of the Government.

4. He controls the collecting and publication of statistical and other information relating to the conditions of labour.

5. He institutes and controls enquiries into important industrial questions and those relating to manufactures, and may collect useful facts and statistics relating thereto, and adopt measures for circulating the same.

6. He has the supervision of and control over all proceedings under the Quebec Trade Disputes Act.

7. He further has control over all other works undertaken at the expense of the province, and all immovables acquired by the Government of the Province, which the Lieutenant-Governor in Council declared by proclamation to be subject to his control.

8. The Council of Arts and Manufactures and Mechanics Institutes are under his control.

The Council of Arts and Manufactures consists of seventeen members appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and of whom the Minister of Public Works is one, ex-officio.

It is the duty of the Council:

1. To take measures, with the approval of the Minister to collect and establish, at Montreal and elsewhere, for the instruction of practical mechanics and manufacturers, museums of minerals and other materials, substances, and chemical compositions capable of being used in mechanical arts and manufactures, with model rooms appropriately stocked and supplied with models of works of art, implements, mechanisms and machines of any kind (except those adopted to facilitate agricultural operations) and free libraries containing books of reference, plans and drawings, calculated to impart useful information in connection with mechanical arts and manufactures.

2. To take measures to obtain from foreign countries new or improved implements or machines (not being agricultural implements, or machines specially adapted to facilitate agricultural operations), and to test the quality, value and usefulness of such implements and machines.

3. To co-operate with the Council of Agriculture in provincial exhibitions.

4. To adopt, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, jointly with the Federal authorities, the measures necessary for the most advantageous display of the arts and manufactures of this province at all foreign exhibitions, or at all general exhibitions of the Dominion of Canada.

5. To make rules and regulations for the establishment, management, administration and carrying on of a system for the teaching of drawing in all its branches in the schools under the control of school commissioners and trustees, in conformity with the provisions of the law respecting public instruction.

6. Generally, to adopt every means in its power to promote improvements in the mechanical arts and manufactures in the province.

The "Quebec Trades Disputes Act" provides for the appointment when necessary, of councils of conciliation and arbitration.

A claim or dispute under the Act includes any of the following matters as to which there is a disagreement between any employer and his employee:

(a) The price to be paid for work done, or in course of being done, whether such disagreement has arisen with respect to wages, or to the hours or times of working.

(b) Damage done to work, delay in finishing the same, not finishing the same in a good and workmanlike manner or according to agreement, or the nature and quality of materials supplied to employees.

(c) The price to be paid for extracting any mineral or substance from a mine or quarry, or the allowances, if any, to be made for bands, refuse, faults or other causes whereby the extraction thereof is impeded.

(d) The performance or non-performance of any written or verbal stipulation or agreement.

(e) Insufficient or unwholesome food or stores supplied to employees, where there is an agreement to victual them or to supply them with provisions or stores of any kind.

(f) Ill-ventilated or dangerous places in mines, or insanitary rooms in which work is being performed or want of necessary conveniences in connection with such rooms or places.

(g) The dismissal or employment under agreement of any employee or number of employees.

(h) The dismissal of any employee or employees for his or their connection with any trade or labour organization.

IX. The Minister of Roads.
The Department of Roads was created in 1912, when the Good Roads Act was passed. It was originally placed under the control of the Minister of Agriculture. In 1914, the Department was assigned to a special minister, called the Minister of Roads, who has, throughout the province, the control and direction, to the extent prescribed by law, of every thing relating to the macadamizing, stoning and graveling of roads, and in general, of everything relating to the maintenance and improvements of roads.

The Good Roads Act, 1912, and amendments enacted since, enable municipalities to secure the assistance of the Government for the opening or repairing of roads within their limits.

X. The Minister of Municipal Affairs.
The Department of Municipal Affairs was created in 1918. It is presided over by one of the ministers already forming part of the Cabinet, who is entrusted with the oversight of the administration and the putting into operation of the laws respecting the municipal system.

The words "Minister of Municipal Affairs" henceforth replace the words "Provincial Secretary" wherever the same were to be found in the Quebec Municipal Code.

All the ministers must, within ten days after the opening of each session thereof, submit to the Legislature a report of the affairs of their department during the preceding year.

In conclusion, Mr. Surveyer thanked the audience for their courteous attention.

Mr. Justice MacLennan then asked if anyone in the audience had any questions to ask Mr. Surveyer relative to the subject he had just treated. No one, however, asked any questions, as the subject had been treated in a very comprehensive manner.

Mr. Justice MacLennan, in a few closing remarks, noted the presence of many law students in the audience and remarked that probably some among their number might, in the distant future, fill some of the responsible positions in the Provincial Government, of which Mr. Surveyer had treated.

In introducing the speaker, Prof. Thornton observed that what was a marvel to-day became a commonplace to-morrow, especially in regard to anything connected with the war.

Edmison, President of the Dental Society, in a pleasing speech, moved a vote of appreciation to Dr. Villain. This was seconded by Dence.

Besides many students, there were a number of visitors, ladies, professional men and officers of the local Canadian Army Dental Corps, under Col. Bradley, A. D. D. S.

"Oh, George!"

"Don't you, Mabel? Just a tiny little bit?"

"Well, y-e-s, George."

"And if I married you, would your father give us a separate establishment?"

"Yes, George."

"And would your mother keep away from us, except when I invited her?"

"Why, certainly, George."

"And your brothers and sisters, too?"

"Why, certainly, George."

"And, of course, the old aunt would settle my debts?"

"Of course, George."

Fit-Reform Clothes are Reasonable for Established Values.

Take wool—it costs 65c. a pound compared with 20c. in 1914. On imported fabrics, freight rates and insurance add enormously to the cost of the finished garment.

The cost of manufacturing has also advanced. Fit-Reform has tried to serve you faithfully and well. They can't begin to get all the cloth they want—but what they do get is good.

They can't begin to make all the Fit-Reform clothes they could sell—but what they do make are right.

With the limited quantities available, and no chance to duplicate orders, it is wise to buy your Fall Suit or Overcoat while our assortments are so satisfactory.

"The Price in the Pocket"

Semi-ready Tailored

No matter where you buy or when you buy a Semi-ready Suit or Overcoat the price is the same. In the East or West, North or South, the same price is on the label in the pocket. Look for that label.

A $25 Suit here costs $25 in Montréal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver or Halifax.

That is one of the nine reasons why men like and trust the Semi-ready tailored garment.

That label price is based on the wear, value and cost of cloth—there is a uniform standard of work.

AT THE SHOW

THE IMPERIAL.
Those who wish for a most entertaining motion picture show should visit the Imperial Theatre. The feature is "Common Clay." Fanny Ward takes the part of Ellen Neal, a shop-girl. Ellen tires of her monotonous existence, and after a violent quarrel with her father, decides to find a more attractive way of earning her living than behind the counter. The story which ensues is rather complex but easily followed; and the scenic effects are excellent, especially some night street scenes.

The rest of the programme consists of a weekly news picture and a very original and amusing comic, entitled "A Roman Cowboy." The orchestra was up to its usual standard of merit.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE STANDING.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Pennsylvania	7	1	.875
Yale	4	2	.666
Cornell	2	3	.400
Princeton	2	5	.285
Columbia	2	4	.350

Whatever honours are to be conferred by the Intercollegiate Basketball League for the season of 1918-19 must be given to the University of Pennsylvania, as the Red and Blue has, for the second successive time, finished the season at the top of the standing. Last year the championship title and a leg on the challenge trophy were the rewards bestowed on the Red and Blue five.

When plans were made for the scheduling of the season, it was known that Dartmouth College would be unable to have a team in the race owing to a lack of funds at the New Hampshire institution, and it was also believed that Cornell University would be unable to take part in the series on the same grounds. With these conditions prevailing, the schedule was made up and announced, with the University of Pennsylvania, Princeton University, Columbia University and Yale University, the four teams to play out the season. Each of these teams was scheduled to meet the other in home-and-home games. Later, it was found that Cornell would be able to put a team in the field and the Red and White scheduled games with Pennsylvania, Princeton and Columbia, Yale not being listed to play the Ithacans. Cornell played home-and-home games with Pennsylvania and Columbia and one game with Princeton.

There is no question that Pennsylvania had much the strongest team in the league race. Captained by L. R. Davis, '19, and coached by L. W. Jourdet, the Red and Blue was able to put on the court a five which would rank well with the championship quintet of 1918. In A. M. Stannard, '19, G. E. Sweeney, '20, H. R. Peck, '20, and Captain Davis, the Red and Blue had four veterans of a very high order, and to top off this quartet D. J. McNichol, '21, brother of a former Penn captain and star, made a fifth star for the team. It would, indeed, have taken an exceptional team to wrest the title from such a five.

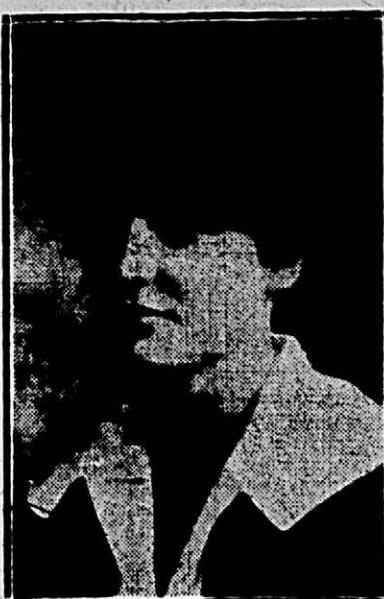

Yale easily finished second, and with Pennsylvania was the only team winning half of its games. The Elis had three splendid veterans in Capt. C. G. Stradella, '19, R. L. Hamill, '20, and DeForest Van Slyck, '20, captain-elect. The team was, however, not so well off for coaching, as a new man had to take hold of the work, and the fact that he was able to develop a team which could finish second and divide honours with Pennsylvania speaks well for his team and the playing ability of the men under him.

ASSISTANCE GIVEN TO STUDENTS

The government scheme for enabling former officers and service men of sufficient educational promise to attend courses of higher education in Scotland will apply to courses conducted at the universities, theological colleges, technical colleges, schools of art, and other institutions for higher education known as "central institutions," and also to institutions for the training of teachers. A sum for aiding selected students to attend such courses has been placed on the estimates of the Scottish Education Department and education officers representative of that department will be attached to the two Scottish directorates of the Appointments Department of the Ministry of Labour, and will be charged with the duty of dealing with the applications for aid toward attending courses at these institutions.

The amount of the assistance to be granted will be determined separately in each case. On the one hand this amount will be limited to the actual sum deemed sufficient to meet the necessary fees and the expenses of maintenance of the candidate after due account has been taken of his private means, if any; of any scholarships to which he may be entitled, and to the assistance which can be reasonably expected from those who would in ordinary circumstances have borne or contributed to the expenses of his training. On the other hand, it is intended that the amount of the

GWYNETH CRAIG.

Gwyneth Craig, President of the R. V. C. Athletic Association, was born in Montreal. After wandering around to various places she decided to settle down in Montreal again. She was educated at boarding-school, later at Trafalgar, and later still—to a certain extent—at McGill. She came to college at such an early age that the bloom of her youthful enthusiasm for life was still upon her, and under the influence of this, she threw herself with great ardour into athletics, where she attained immediate success, culminating in the fact that she is now President of the R.V.C. Athletic Association.

Her activities have been: Class and college basketball and hockey; basketball representative, 1915-16; manager, 1917-18; vice-president of Athletic Association, 1917-18; and president in 1918-19. The course taken by Miss Craig is a B.A., with Honours in English and History, the attendant labours of which make the Redpath Library seem to her ever as a second home.

Saturday, March 29.
Tickets, 35c—or pay at the door.
Proceeds for delegates to Y.W.C.A. Conference at Couchiching.

To the Thé Dancant come all.
Come in any way at all.
Come in dozens, parties, twos, or one by one.

If you know no one to take.
Come alone! You're sure to make
The acquaintance of some pal who is a good fun.

Our musician is Miss Cleary.
Those who know her never weary
Of the tip-top, raggy music she does play.
All you have to do is hear her,
Then your next desire's to cheer her,
And straightway upon the floor make actions gay.

The idea is that Saturday,
In a most informal way,
You will have a jolly, merry, royal time.
All we ask is for a fee.
Thirty-five cents gives you tea,
Plus dancing, music, flowers and a good time.

If you would like to keep a table
For a party, we are able To reserve one with your name upon the cloth.
If you let us know by noon
Of Friday, at least, soon,
Gladly we'll oblige you in all things.

The tickets for the Swimming Meet, which is scheduled for April 6th, will be on sale at the Union to-day. Representatives of the various faculties supplied as follows: Science, Pitt, '19; Arts '22; Webster; Medicine, Miller '22; R.V.C., Miss F. E. Bannar, '19. As the supply is limited, students are urged to purchase their tickets at once and so avoid disappointment. Reserved seats, 75 cents; gallery, 50 cents.

AT LAST!

I hit him once; I struck him twice.
I bound him with a gag;
Because he asked me for a dance,
This would-be dancing stag.
